

Life Cycle of a Painted Turtle

Cut out the images and paste them into the circles in the correct order.

Think about how you are growing and getting bigger. This is called your life cycle. At first, you were a tiny baby, then a child. After that you will become a teenager and one day an adult. Mother turtles lay eggs, they hatch to become babies (or hatchlings), then juveniles, and eventually they become adults.

Can you pretend to swim, walk on all fours, and stretch out in the sun like a turtle?
